The Basic Survey on Social Life to be Conducted

The Basic Survey on Social Life is conducted to gather data on the time we spend each day on work, housework, community activities, and other pursuits, as well as our leisure activities over the past year.

This survey investigates the realities of social life, including daily routines and activities over the past year.

From early to mid-October, surveyors will visit households selected for the survey. We ask for your understanding of the survey's purpose and your cooperation in answering the questions.

Inquiries: Population and Labor, Statistics Division, Policy Planning Department
